Per American Kennel Club guidelines, our puppies will stay with their mothers until the puppies are between six and eight weeks old. While we know you are anxious to bring home your new addition, readiness can vary from one litter to the next, so we use our discretion in determining when each puppy is ready to go home.

All Huskies are born with blue eyes. Usually the permanent color is determined between six and eight weeks. We do not breed for eye color; we breed for quality genetics, temperament and health. Therefore, eye color is not guaranteed, nor is it a basis for refund.

As a customer of Big Elm Huskies and owner of one of our Huskies, please remember that we are always here for you, and the best interest of the dog is of foremost importance. If, for any reason, you are unable to keep the dog, contact us first. We would like first option to take the dog back or to help you find a new home for him or her. Under NO circumstances is the Husky to be placed in a shelter, Humane Society, or rescue.

The health of our dogs and puppies is paramount, but it should be noted that Siberian Huskies are susceptible to an easily-treatable, non life-threatening condition resulting from the presence of small one-celled organisms, such as Coccidia or Giardia, that can live in the intestinal tracts of dogs and cats. While the presence of these organisms usually causes no ill-effects, young dogs and those who are under stress or have a suppressed immune system, may develop diarrhea. If you notice loose or bloody stool or diarrhea - especially when your puppy is less than six months old - please have a veterinarian test him or her for the presence of Coccidia and Giardia. Since this is a naturally occurring condition that is spread through the environment, it will not be considered reason for return, refund, or reimbursement of vet bills.
